"My name is Ahmed," the child says. "I'm new here."

"It's nice to meet you, Ahmed," Daniel says. "Would you like to play with me?"

Ahmed smiles and nods. He and Daniel spend the rest of the day playing together. They build a fort out of sticks, play hide-and-seek, and race each other around the playground. By the end of the day, they are best friends.

Daniel and Ahmed continue to be best friends for many years. They go to school together, play together, and share their secrets with each other. They are always there for each other, no matter what.

One day, when Daniel and Ahmed are in high school, they are walking home from school when they see a group of older boys picking on a smaller boy. Daniel and Ahmed know that they have to do something, so they step in and defend the smaller boy. The older boys are surprised and angry, but Daniel and Ahmed stand their ground. They are not afraid to stand up for what they believe in, even if it means standing up to bullies.

The smaller boy is so grateful to Daniel and Ahmed for helping him. He tells them that he has never had any friends before, and he is so happy to have met them. Daniel and Ahmed are happy to have made a new friend, too.

Daniel and Ahmed's story is a heartwarming tale of friendship and acceptance. It teaches children that it is important to be kind to others, even if they are different from us. It also teaches children that it is important to stand up for what we believe in, even if it means standing up to bullies.

Daniel Finds a New Friend is a must-have for any child's bookshelf or classroom library. It is a story that will inspire children to be kind, compassionate, and accepting of others.
